DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 2, 4-25 are pending in the case.

Claim 14 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11/1/07.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1, 2, 4-13, 15-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The specification as originally filed does not provide support for the invention as now claimed: "a method of increasing homologous recombination" (claim 1); "recombination has been enhanced" (claim 12); "a recombinant gene produced by increased..." (claim 13); "homologous recombination has been increased" (claims 24 and 25). This is a new matter rejection. The specification does not provide sufficient landmarks nor direction for the instant methods encompassing the above-mentioned limitations, as currently recited. The instant claims now recite limitations which were not clearly disclosed in the specification as-filed, and now change the scope of the instant disclosure as-filed. Such limitations recited in the present claims, which did not appear in the specification, as filed, introduce new concepts and violate the description requirement of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, 2, 4-13, 15-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, and by dependence claims 2, 4-13, 15-25 are vague and indefinite in the recitation of "wherein the DNA sequence is upstream on the 5' side of the gene", since it is not clear what is intended. The first phrase recites a method of increasing recombination between a gene and a DNA sequence similar to the gene; therefore it is not clear what is meant by "the DNA sequence is upstream on the 5' side of the gene", since it is not clear whether the DNA sequence is being introduced into the cell and being recombined into the cell, or whether it is present in the genome. If the first is intended, it is not clear by what is intended by the phrase. The claim is further vague and indefinite in the phrase "the method comprising a step of controlling of transcription of the gene induces homologous recombination" since it is not clear what is intended by this phrase.

Claim 4 is vague and indefinite in the recitation of "the controlling transcription involves a cis-acting region comprising an enhancer a nuclear matrix attachment region (MAR) or both", since it is not clear what is intended by the phrase "involves".

Claim 6 is vague and indefinite in the recitation of "the enhancer or the nuclear matrix attachment region (MAR) or both since these elements are not recited in claim 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 12, 13, 15, 17, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nickoloff et al. (Mol. Cell. Boil., 12, 12, 5311-5318, 1992).

Nickoloff et al. disclose a method for inducing homologous recombination of mammalian cells, wherein the efficiency of the homologous recombination of a neo gene for example, which has been embedded in the chromosome of a mammalian cell such as CHO cell, and regulated by a DEX reactive MMTV promoter, and a different neo gene or the like is enhanced by activating transcription from the aforementioned DEX-reactive MMTV promoter. It is considered that the DNA sequence would be upstream or 5' of the gene with which recombination takes place, and promoter is 3' to the DNA sequence. The reference discloses vectors comprising said gene and sequence (see page 5311-5312).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
